Greetings to all of my community members of my hometown of Kayenta, Arizona! Yá'át'ééh to all of my grandma, grandpas, náilis, my sisters, brothers, uncles, aunties and all of my relations. My name is Shaandiin Paul Parrish and on Saturday, September 7, 2019 in Window Rock, Arizona I was selected as your new Miss Navajo Nation.

I am and born for the Towering House people. My maternal grandfathers are of the Bitter-Water people and my paternal grandfathers are of the Edge-Water people. My mother is Shelly Parrish of Kayenta, Arizona and my father is Timothy "TJ" Begay of Dennehotso, Arizona. I have one younger brother and one younger sister, but I am also an older sister to two younger cousin-sisters and two younger cousin-brothers.

My grandmother is Wanda Smallcanyon Parrish of Navajo Mountain, Arizona and my grandfather is the late Paul Allen Parrish from (here) Kayenta, Arizona. My grandfather was a World War 2 Navajo Code Talker. My paternal grandfather is Bill or Billy Begay and my paternal grandmother is the late Pauline Johnson Begay. I was born in Monument Valley, Utah and raised my entire life in Kayenta, Arizona. I graduated a year early from Monument Valley High School upon the reception of the Gates Millennium Scholarship and was then afforded the opportunity to attend Arizona State University (ASU). While attending ASU I was also awarded the Udall Foundation Scholarship and interned at the Arizona State Senate from 2015 to 2019.

After graduating from ASU with a degree in Political Science I was then selected to be the Arizona State Treasurer Kimberly Yee's Public Information Officer. In my position I became the youngest and only Native American to be appointed to any executive position in the State of Arizona this year.

Seven-months into my position I resigned to be your new Miss Navajo Nation. As Miss Navajo I hope to work closely with our elders and our youth.

Ahe'hee.

Thank you!

KAYENTA TOWNSHIP SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM FALL SEMESTER 2019

Kayenta, Ariz. Gabriel Yazzie, Kayenta Township Town Manager and Helen Salt

HELEN SALT

Flagstaff, Ariz. Helen Salt is a 2019 Kayenta Township Scholarship recipient. Salt is a graduate of Monument Valley High School Class of 2019. Currently, she is attending Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, Ariz. She was accepted into the Nursing Pediatric Program at N.A.U.

During her visit to her health care provider, while she was waiting to be seen, she noticed there was plenty of instruments she wasn't familiar with, and that made her curious. She was fascinated by the shiny tools in the room and led to discovering her love of technology. She says, "I want to be a nurse; I want to cure and heal people."

She says she grew up in the Navajo traditional belief system, and she talked about how she grew up using holistic plants and attending ceremonies. Her grandparents would use plants to calm her down and saw evidence of how different techniques were applied for ailments. After reflecting on her visit to the Doctor's office, she says now I know what those Icecicle sticks are used for, it's for your tongue! I thought they were toys, and she laughs at recounting her story. She says although Flagstaff is not too far, she says it a different world. She sees the mountains every day; she thinks it is colder there.

Her biggest concern is keeping up her G.P.A and reflects words of encouragements from her teachers, especially from Mr. Franklin at M.V.H.S.

She advises young people to "challenge yourself every day, in your studies, and you will be ready for the next step!"

NEKIYAH DRAPER

Tempe, Ariz. Nekiyah Draper is currently studying Biomedical Engineering at Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz. She says she heard about the Kayenta Township Scholarship when she was a construction engineering intern for Kayenta Township Community Development Department.

"Throughout high school, I knew I wanted to be an engineer and ultimately, to help others and our native people. I did not know what specification of engineering I wanted to study. Once, I started taking biology classes in high school, I loved it and was so fascinated that I never got tired of learning about it." says Draper.

"From the time I was young, it was ingrained in my mind by my grandparents and parents that college was my pathway. My entire family always stressed to me how important education is because they viewed it as a way of empowering not only yourself but also our people."

And her advice to young people "I want them to know that college is not the only option if they feel like it's not right for them. But they should also know that they are capable of more than they think and shouldn't be sitting at home doing anything after they graduate. Find a way to contribute to your community, your people, and your family."

She concludes by saying, "Everyone in Kayenta and the reservation have been my inspiration to strive and succeed in everything I do because I want to inspire them as well."

TEMPE, ARIZ. NEKIYAH DRAPER, ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY CAMPUS (PC:ND)

KAYENTA, ARIZ. MOURTICE CLITSO, NORTHERN ARIZONA UNIVERSITY.

MOURTICE CLITSO

Flagstaff, Ariz. Is currently in the Electrical Engineering program at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff, Ariz. Clitso says, "I decided on electrical engineering because ever since I was a young boy, mathematics was always interesting to me. Learning about how electricity can be manipulated. Growing up, I had many teachers and family members talk to me about going to college, and since then, I've made my plans to go to college. I decided to attend NAU because of the community, and environment NAU is in making my college experience great." he added.

"I heard about the scholarship program from family members and past newspaper articles."

His advice to upcoming students "To seniors and juniors, I would recommend practicing how to prioritize and manage your time now while you are still in high school. Also, to start making a list of scholarships and schools, you plan on applying."

"I thank my parents for always supporting and encouraging me in whatever I wanted to do, the counselors at MVHS, former teachers/mentors, like Mr. William Gibson, Alex Gilmore, Felicia James, and Herb Beyale whom all helped me whether it was through words of advice or letters of recommendations."

"Yes, I do plan on returning to the Navajo Nation after receiving my degree. Until then, I hope to take internships during the summer in or around the Navajo Nation," he concluded with confidence in his voice.

MESSAGE FROM KAYENTA UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT

KAYENTA, ARIZ. Leadership in the Kayenta Unified School District No. 27 is currently under transition. Lemual B. Adson is the Superintendent of KUSD, and new to the community and district, but not new to the position of leading a school district.

Transitioning to new leadership provides opportunity for change and a new perspective of improving the conditions of providing opportunities for all students to learn. However, not all things need to be changed.

The current foundation of the KUSD Strategic Plan will continue to be the foundation of the district strategic plan. (1) Maximize student potential with a clear focus on student outcomes, (2) Leveraging human capital, (3) Stakeholder

KAYENTA, ARIZ. LEMUAL B. ADSON, KUSD SUPERINTENDENT (PC: Dr.V.Y)

Driven and (4) Accountability and Transparency (processes, systems and resources) will direct the efforts to further development of a comprehensive plan.

A 100-day transition plan is in development by the Superintendent. The purpose of the plan is to listen to all relevant members of the school, the parents, and the community.

The district has a Parent Advisory Council (PAC) and an Indian Education Committee (IEC) that meets each month. Parents and community members are invited to contact the district to find out when the next meetings are schedule.

It is important to offer your input to the district administration. Your attendance at the meetings to hear directly from the administration and to share your thoughts would benefit the district to transition to a successful district. If you are unable to attend the PAC and IEC meetings you can also visit the school principals and superintendent by appointment.

If you would like the Superintendent to hear from your program or workplace you can also request a meeting at your location to share input to the school.

It is important to listen and gather data or many perspectives to assist the development of a strategic plan.

KAYENTA JUDICIAL COURTS BEGIN DISCUSSION ON BUILDING NEW NAVAJO NATION JUDICIAL COURTS COMPLEX

Chinle, Ariz. Kayenta Judicial District, Navajo Nation Judicial Branch Administrative Office of the Courts, Office of the Prosecutor, Office of the Public Defender, Kayenta Township, and Architect Dyron Murphy toured the existing Chinle Judicial Complex in Chinle, Arizona. Dyron Murphy Architects, P.C. is a native owned architecture firm from Albuquerque, N.M., which was selected to provide the technical aspect of the architect and design for the Kayenta Judicial Complex.

“The purpose of the meeting begins the conversation regarding the phases of design and development of the Judicial Complex in Kayenta. The plans will provide for safe, modern, and improved facilities for the Kayenta Judicial District, Office of the Prosecutor and Office of Public Defender.

The current offices are functionally deficient, and our community deserves a facility that would improve access, safety, and efficiency. Our Navajo Chapters support this project that meets these goals and best serves our community.” says Lavonne K. Yazzie, Kayenta Judicial District Court Administrator.

The group looked at several aspects of providing the best possible plans to accommodate the current staff, including long term staffing. The future complex will house; District and Family Courts, Probation Services, Peacemaking Program, Prosecutor and Public Defender offices.

“The Judicial District t serves seven chapters, covers approximately

2,439,395 acres with a population over 19,240, and this requires efficient buildings located within a central complex. The District has a considerable caseload to work with on an annual basis. Today's discussion will create a dialogue to ensure the design addresses our critical needs.”

During the tour, the group was able to see first hand how each room, office space, and conference area, are functional and practical; and how these spaces and areas are occupied.

The proposed Project site of the Kayenta Judicial Complex will be located south of the existing Kayenta Police Support Building within the Tó Dínéeshzhee' Public Safety Complex on U.S. Highway 163. The building will cover approximately 17,000 square footages.

“To address our local need due to increasing caseloads and the need for services, a four-phase planning of the Kayenta public safety and judicial complex master plan started in 2011.

The first two phases were completed in 2015 with the construction of a new police and corrections department facilities. The last two phases of the master plan will be completed with these buildings.

Kayenta Township has been involved since the inception of the planning stages. It is also anticipated that our caseload will continue to increase due to the recent Kayenta Mine closure.” says Yazzie.

The new Kayenta Judicial is scheduled for construction on Spring of 2020.

Holding a KVO position is based on volunteers for the Kayenta Community, it is open to all those that served in the U.S. Armed Forces; also community members are encouraged to volunteer to assist with community events and meetings.

Currently, only two officers are serving in the capacity of the KVO structure. The two officer’s titles are Commander and Spiritual Advisor, KVO is seeking three other positions to be filled. The vacant positions are; Vice Commander, Secretary, and Sargent at Arms.

Providing Honor Details and Color Guards are the primary activities for KVO. They will be called out to give these valuable services throughout the community.

Just recently, KVO and Monument

Valley High School Air Force JROTC have come together to begin working to help each other to have a meeting place for KVO members.

KAYENTA TOWNSHIP BEAUTIFICATION PROJECT AT US HWY 160 & 163

KAYENTA, ARIZ. REPLICA OF MONUMENT VALLEY STONES ARE SET UP AT THE INTERSECTION.

KAYENTA, ARIZ. The Kayenta Beautification Project at the intersection of U.S. Highway 160 and 163 is a three-phased project initiated by Kayenta Township Community Development. Phase one of the designs process was implemented at the northeastern quadrant at the intersection near the newly renovated Speedway C-store and Alon gas station in Kayenta.

Phase One of the Landscaping was carried out and completed at the end of December of 2018. Phase One is part of a more significant landscape project that sets the tone for the other two projects.

Phase One included the laying of decomposed “buckskin” colored gravel and sizeable red sandstone boulders from the Ash Fork pit, giving it that Monument Valley appeal; also selected plants compatible with the region along with trees and shrubs were included in the area.

Currently, KTC Community Development is working with NTUA to begin moving on Phase Two. This phases will incorporate a water line drip irrigation system installation along the Chevron Gas Station C-Store along the ADOT corridor. The new NAPA building. Each corner will mirror the design from the Northside.

The Landscape Project along the ADOT corridor will be phase two of the landscaping project which will extend towards the Old 7-2-11 and Church’s Chicken.

KAYENTA BOARDING SCHOOL SECURES KAYENTA TOWNSHIP BEAUTIFICATION GRANT

Kayenta, Ariz. Since the inception of the Kayenta Township Beautification Grant was implemented, the grant was awarded as a reimbursement grant; however, a lot of programs preferred the direct grant.

Subsequently, since the changes, a lot of programs, businesses, and school became interested.

One of the local schools heard about the Beautification Grant and immediately started the paperwork process. Kelly Yazzie, Maintenance Supervisor at Kayenta Boarding School, says,

“I knew what we wanted to do for the school that would impact the community. The grant was primarily used in purchasing large caliber trees, irrigation supplies, planting material, and providing our skilled labor.”

Yazzie mentioned that he is a professional Landscaper, and that gave him the advantage to envision working with the aesthetics of the area he wanted to modify with visible features.

During the summer months, his staff continued to work on the proposed

KAYENTA, ARIZ. KAYENTA BOARDING SCHOOL BEAUTIFICATION GRANT

KAYENTA, ARIZ. KAYENTA BOARDING SCHOOL BEAUTIFICATION GRANT

“The boarding school was unable to do the reimbursement grant because KBS didn’t necessarily set aside funding for a project like this. Funding from our school is primarily direct education funds, and facility maintenance funds are geared to the maintenance and operation of the school. There are limited funds for land improvement; we chose the direct grant, which gave us the funding upfront. It was submitted through the channels of the government and assigned an accounting line code, from there we were able to procure materials and work within the means of the amount allotted.”

Kayenta Boarding School was awarded forty thousand dollars.

areas, and he says “we went from bare ground to what you see now, 38 trees that extend 600 feet in one direction, 300 feet in the other, and is visually appealing.”

Landscaping is the series of steps in making a piece of land more attractive by altering the existing design, adding ornamental features, and planting trees and shrubs. In his own words, Yazzie said, “Beautification is enhancing the environment, the grounds, and the community. The expectation is to create a pleasant environment.”

With precise planning and envisioning his craft, Yazzie alluded “keeping it simple, the boarding school chose to implement a retaining wall to add elevation. The plant selection was specifically for larger caliber trees and the irrigation system to ensure water. The landscape is a commitment, and it can grow creatively if you want it to. Similar to educating students, it takes time and effort.”

Yazzie indicated that he wants to “inspire the community to get creative in the way we present Kayenta.

Three years from now residing in a community that has a consistent flow of trees from one end of town to the other is going to offer communal pride. We already have pride in our community, and we keep it relatively clean. In three years, let’s hope we have more businesses that were a result of the beautification grant.”

Yazzie added final touches by placing a metal lettering that displays a public medium “Kayenta Boarding School!”

MONUMENT VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL AIR FORCE JROTC GOING STRONG WITH OUTDOOR ORIENTEERING TRAINING

KAYENTA, ARIZ. “Navajos cannot and will not be lost” were the words spoken by retired Master Sergeant Sombrero to the Air Force Junior ROTC cadets. On September 7, 2019, the Monument Valley High School cadets participated in their first-targets on the map that vary in score points. Teams are made up of two cadets, and each cadet must have reflective vests (or some other bright-colored material), whistle, water, and a compass. Once the event host verifies each cadet has these items, t given a safety briefing from the JROTC safety officer on local conditions, weather, and specific hazards such as wildlife and plants. Since our cadets received only a week’s worth of orienteering training, the instructor’s felt the cadets should start with the training field using training map. As such, the instructors accompanied the students to the first three targets, and after that, the cadets were ready to take on the rest of the targets.

After 90 minutes, our first team composed of Mr. Benally and Aurailiah Begay came in after finding all eight targets, followed by the rest of the team: Joey Leonard, Garrett Todacheene, Lariat Begay, Towan Fragua, Treynae BooSilas, and another cadet. It was a fun, and exciting event exclusive to the JROTC organization since our cadets witnessed other cadets from the Army, Marine, Navy, and Air Force JROTCs.

We hope to get all the students involved in something. Our orienteering team was made up of students who’ve never been in sports but were put in a sports activity that required running, hiking, and racing to the finish line against other teams like any other ‘regular’ sport.

The JROTC program can offer a plethora of team activities like Cyber security, Academics, Marksmanship, Rocketry, Drones, and many more.

As one Air Force officer commented, “a student will join something...good or bad, so you might as well create something good.”

MISCONCEPTION ABOUT PLASTICS AND ILLEGAL DUMPING: NAVAJO NATION ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

KAYENTA, ARIZ. Plastics are ubiquitous in our garbage, as well as in everyday products we utilize. It's easy to dismiss plastics as harmless, with little to no hazardous impact on the environment and our health.

Part of the reason for this misperception rises from how plastics are used for greater good, like to package foods and to make synthetic clothing.

Here on the Navajo Nation, plastics are increasingly entering illegal trash dump sites, where plastics degrade into smaller particles through exposure to ultraviolet radiation from sunlight. Some of these plastics break down so small, they are the same size as a grain of sand or even smaller to almost the same size as a bacterium or a unicellular organism.

These types of degraded plastics broken down to a few micrometers are called microplastics.

Scientists are beginning to understand the impacts of microplastic on organisms, such as fish and humans.

They are finding that microplastics are entering the digestive system where they enter the bloodstream or may occupy cellular space such as in fish tissue.

Bigger microplastic particles may simply pass through the body.

A simple online YouTube search for microplastic reveals a great number of informational resources on human health and environmental impacts research of microplastics.

So, what can we do to mitigate the impacts of plastics? You can refuse single use plastic shopping bags by opting into reusable shopping bags, avoid the use of plastic straws, and purchase food items in bulk.

Burning of plastics is not recommended! Plastics contain man-made chemicals that cause cancer, and through burning, the chemicals impact air quality and water quality. The burnt chemical plastic ash is transported by each rain event toward animal and human drinking water sources.

Proper disposal of household garbage will help reduce microplastics entering our natural environment.

KAYENTA TOWNSHIP SELECTS NEW RECREATION COORDINATOR AND BEGINS WORKING ON COMMUNITY RECREATION PROGRAMS

KAYENTA, ARIZ. “The first thing we want to develop is a Recreation Program,” says Stephen Young, the newly hired Recreation Specialist at Kayenta Township. Young says the current recreation program is almost non-existent and not many people know about it uniquely within the township.

“The focus is to develop a program or programs for both adults and youths and part of that is building a program that sparks interest in the community.”

Some of the challenges in the community of Kayenta is how rural it is and how difficult and challenging it is to develop a program, and it may seem problematic, and these are the things Young will be exploring to make these programs work. “We have the opportunity to provide a recreation program for those that are not very fortunate to leave the community to go to a sports camp or some program that is not within the community but instead bring those programs to the community.”

Kayenta is a proactive community, and families encourage their young ones to join sports programs and maintain a level of activities, and some programs keep the youth active. However, Young says, “we would like to reach out to the community and invite other communities to be part of the recreation programs.

The program will reach out to both parents and their children; this will create a healthy environment.”

It’s been noted Diabetes is on the rise and the Navajo Nation Office of the President have been actively engaged in providing awareness and education through their campaign efforts however Diabetes continues to be an epidemic in our communities. “I want to capitalize on outdoor activities and build a recreation program that focuses on a community outreach process.

We can help with those that are dealing with Diabetes and create initiatives for a healthy lifestyle for the community,” added Young.

KAYENTA MIDDLE SCHOOL PAGEANT WILL BE FEATURED IN A DOCUMENTARY PROJECT

KAYENTA, ARIZ. James Foguth, a Navajo documentary filmmaker who has worked on projects that have aired on HBO, ESPN-U, and the Audience Network, is producing a documentary called Brave that follows Diné youth coming of age within the Diné Culture, and explores the challenges they face through their eyes. The documentary will center around Diné youth that participate in the Diné Princess and Brave Pageants.

“For me, it is justice work to share perspectives that inform the Diné people of the challenges of growing up as a Diné youth in this westernized world,” Foguth said. “My films aim to dispel the of notions of the lazy Diné youth who refuse to learn their language and to break Indian stereotypes that portray us as overly romanticized racial caricatures.”

One of the major themes in Brave will be the “integrative and disintegrative forces shaping young Dine people.”

“The disintegrative forces are things like domestic violence and substance abuse, and the integrative forces are the Diné culture and language,” Foguth said.

Foguth feels is important to tell the complete story of Diné youth as it is both ethical and humanizing. He hopes to weave historical context throughout the film to ensure that the story is whole.

Foguth grew up in Lukachukai on the Navajo Nation. He comes from a traditional family. Foguth himself was a Tsaile elementary school Brave when he was twelve years old. Foguth has been making documentaries since he was fourteen years old.

“My grandmother, Annie Kahn, was a strong advocate for teaching Dine Culture and woman’s rights.” Foguth says.

Foguth’s feels it is important to have Diné People tell Diné stories. “I’m tired of outsiders applying a technical recipe to our Diné culture and identity,” Foguth said.

The Brave documentary is in production and a funding campaign is under way. More information about the film can be found at nizhonifilms.com.

Kayenta NAPA Auto Parts Owner Receives Grant Award

KAYENTA, ARIZ. WAYLAND LAFONT AND GABRIEL YAZZIE, KTC TOWN MANAGER

Kayenta, Ariz. NAPA Auto Parts owner, Wayland LaFont was awarded Business Site Infrastructure Incentives from Kayenta Township. Kayenta Township Commission approved a payment of $50,000.00 to Wayland Lafont as a Business Site Infrastructure Incentive for parking lot improvements. “It’s good to work with a local government that wants to work with the community,” said LaFont.

The Kayenta NAPA Auto Parts store has been in business for the last 12 years, and the store was located behind Wetherwill Motel. LaFont kept with the NAPA Auto Parts brand and has been loyal, and he adds “I could see the future out here in Kayenta and the needs of the surrounding areas. There is no other auto parts store out here, no facilities.”

LaFont says he’s adamant about capturing tourism dollars since Kayenta is a hub for tourism. It only makes sense tourist make up more of his customers during summer hours. Now that he has moved to the center of the community, he has seen an influx of customers and has witnessed his business flourish and become more successful. “It something new, it’s a prime location, it’s nice. It’s good to see new faces, more tourist,” says LaFont.

In the past, he has only seen a handful of successful business on the Navajo Nation survive throughout the years. His advice to those that are seeking independent entrepreneurship, “you can’t give up, and you have to keep on trying, there’s a lot to do out here.”
